New Delhi, Aug 31 : India's largest autonomous public research and development organisation Council of Scientific and Industrial Research (CSIR) has been ranked ninth in the world.

The ranking is based on a composite indicator that combines research performance, innovation outputs and societal impact measured by their web visibility, so as to reflect scientific, economic and social characteristics of institutions.

The institute has been ranked ninth amongst a total of 1,207 government institutions, according to the Scimago Institutions ranking World Report 2017.

With this ranking, CSIR comes in the company of globally renowned organisations namely Chinese Academy of Sciences; Centre National de la Recherche Scientifique, France; Helmholtz Gemeinschaft and Max Planck Gesellschaft in Germany; Consejo Superior de Investigaciones Cientificas, Spain; Russian Academy of Sciences; Japan Science and Technology Agency; Consiglio Nazionale delle Ricerche, Italy and Leibniz Gemeinschaft, Germany.

New Delhi, Aug 31 (UNI) The Council of Scientific and Industrial Research (CSIR) has bagged the ninth rank in the global list of scientific government institutions, according to the World Report of a renowned ranking firm.

According to a statement issued here today, the Chinese Academy of Sciences topped the list of 1207 Government institutions, followed by the Centre National de la Recherche Scientifique, France; Helmholtz Gemeinschaft, Germany; Max Planck Gesellschaft, Germany; Consejo Superior de Investigaciones Cientificas, Spain; Russian Academy of Sciences, Russia; Japan Science & Technology Agency, Japan; Consiglio Nazionale delle Ricerche, Italy and Leibniz Gemeinschaft, Germany, it added.

In overall global ranking, CSIR, having pan-India presence, stands at 75th position among the 5250 institutions worldwide.

It is the only Indian organisation to have secured a place in the Top 100 Global Institutions, the statement added.

It said the Scimago Institutions Ranking (SIR) is a science evaluation resource developed by Scimago Labs based on data from Scopus, to assess worldwide Institutions.
